Summary: (machine translated)
Hiking canyon with small steps, we only went to a thermal pool.

Hydrology:

Access: (machine translated)
From Kerak down to the Dead Sea, then northwards, past the Wadi Mujib. 10 km further on we reach our destination. We park next to the old bridge. See also the link to the route on Google Mail.

Approach: (machine translated)
Straight down into the streambed.

Tour: (machine translated)
Up the stream, as long as it's fun. We only got as far as a thermal pool, where we enjoyed an extensive swim. A further ascent would have been possible with a bit of climbing.
Back the same way in the streambed.

Return: (machine translated)
Between the bridges out to the car.
