Summary: (machine translated)

Short descent over some sinter cascades

Hydrology:

Access: (machine translated)

From Nice on the N 2002 towards Digne, after 47 km through Puget-Théniers and on via Entrevaux (7 km) to the St Jean restaurant with a large parking lot on the right-hand side of the road (approx. 4.5 km after Entrevaux).\nHere turn right to the hamlet of Haut Agnerc. After 1200 m (from the main road) there is a dirt road on the left in a right-hand bend (with barrier). Park the car here.

Approach: (machine translated)

From the car, continue along the road up to the hamlet of Haut Agnerc and further north-east down to the stream (exit). From here, walk up the slopes until you come across an old water pipe running across the slope at around 680 m above sea level. Follow it to the right until you reach the entry point.\nIn the internet sources mentioned or in the book cited, an access route from the car northeast up the meadow and above past the hamlet of Haut Agnerc is described.\n

Tour: (machine translated)

Mini-canyon, but attractive due to jumps into the sinter pools and the reddish limestone deposits in the streambed.

Return: (machine translated)

After the last rapell a few hundred meters down the stream, then out to the right, up to the hamlet and down the road to the car.
