Gear: Ropes: 2x50m drill tool, Headlamp,
Summary: (machine translated) 16 km long great canyon, usually completed as a 2-day tour. A few rappels in the central and narrower part of the canyon, otherwise long marches in relatively open terrain.
Hydrology:
Access: (machine translated) First head for the canyon exit of the Saklikent canyon. Park the car here for the exit. Unless you want to pay a parking fee, park the car south of the river. With the second car we drive 700 m (calculated from the road bridge at the canyon exit) towards Palamut, Kalkan (SW). Then we turn left on a paved road, which leads us in many serpentines on the orographic left side of the canyons. After about 10.7 km we pass some houses (free view to the east). 150 m further on, a dirt road turns off to the left. We continue on our little road and after another 670m we take the road to the left at a fork. The next junction awaits us about 950 m further on. Again we stay left and pass some houses. 2750m after this last junction we come again to a fork of the track. From the beginning of the track in the valley to here it was a total of about 15.2 km. Here we have to decide if we want to enter at the beginning of the canyon or if we want to rope into the canyon already further downstream from or next to a road bridge. If we don't want to climb the upper part of the canyon, like the majority of the climbers, we continue to the left and after 2.6 km we reach the bridge over the canyon. By the way, it is also possible to get here on the orographic right side of the gorge via Arsaköy - better said passing in the north and mostly on tarred roads. Here we park our car for this access B. However, if we want to enter at the beginning of the gorge, we turn right onto a dirt road that leads to the hamlet of Camliova and the road to Sütlegen. After 3.6 km we come in a right turn to a tree-free firebreak that goes left (north) down to the open gravel bed of Karaçay Dere. Here we park our car for this access A.
Approach: (machine translated) At access B from orographic. right next to the bridge into the river. At access A down the tree-free aisle to the river and there left to the beginning of the gorge.

Tour: (machine translated)

The first section of the gorge to the access B can be seen on the video and the corresponding photos. The last section of the gorge is very narrow. The long part in between should have the character of a hiking canyon, but has not yet been walked by the author.
