Summary: (machine translated) Above all scenic impressive rappel canyon with long passages of climbing down
Hydrology:
Access: (machine translated) The access to the parking lot for the lower car is shown here: http://www.wikiloc.com/wikiloc/view.do?id=2522798 (however, you should not drive all the way to Casa de Cavallo, but leave the car about 400 m before in the hikers' parking lot). With the second car, we go up the road from Roquetes to Monte Caro. At an altitude of 730 m, the road crosses the Barranc del Farrubio in a sharp right turn. In the parking lot with fountain we park the second car.
Approach: (machine translated) From the south end of the parking lot we take the path that - at times walking on a slope - goes up to the prominent saddle (800 m a.s.l.). from the saddle the path leads us essentially horizontally along the slope to the south. Now we cross the wide basin of the Barranc de la Vall. We march towards a dark rock wall. There we find the Font spring (960 m a.s.l.). Around the base of the rock wall we climb again to the next ridge descending from Monte Caro (980 m a.s.l.). Descend beyond and we are at the entry to the Caramella. The following is the access from below: http://www.wikiloc.com/wikiloc/view.do?id=2522815 (access from below) http://www.barranquismo.net/paginas/barrancos/barranc_de_la_caramella_mapa.gif (access from below).
Tour: (machine translated) 24 rappel, first downclimb over grassy slopes, if necessary rappel from trees. At the end, the "Cua de Cavall" awaits us in the "Gran Circ" with about 80m height. Approximately in the middle there is a transfer. However, the rope retrieval can cause problems here. This steep drop can be bypassed to the right as well as to the left. Possible is also to change on the ledge to the right to the neighboring Racó de la Gralla (path) and "take" there the attractive final passage (below the 400m walk and descent). Cf: http://www.barranquismo.net/paginas/barrancos/raco_de_la_gralla.gif
Return: (machine translated) We walk on the slope out of the valley, pass Casa de Cavallo and are soon at the parking lot with our "lower" car.
