Summary: (machine translated) River walk with swimming passages and some minor rappels
Hydrology:
Access: (machine translated) Via the SS 237, either along the western shore of Lago d'Idro northward or the valley of the Fiume Chiese southward to Ponte Caffaro. Here, near the river, park the first car. From here, with the second car, go south for 3.6 km. At the traffic circle turn right and go up the SS 669 towards Bagolino, Passo Croce Domini. After 6.4 km (from the traffic circle) we reach the bridge over the Caffaro. After the bridge, park the second car on the right.
Approach: (machine translated) On the south side of the bridge a little upstream (WSW) until you find the trail down to the river.
Tour: (machine translated) At the beginning still somewhat cut in, later more in open streambed it goes running, swimming, rappeling and some times also rappeling up to the weirs before the power station. From the water intake at the power station, the last part can be swum again.
Return: (machine translated) After the water intake at the power plant still under the road bridge and then left out.

Automatisch importiert von Descente-Canyon.com für Canyon Caffaro A nice discovery. Esthetically pleasing: deep and narrow parts with nice swimming pools. We took the exit at 45,819569 - 10,498611 which took us 30 mins and was doable but steep for about 20 meters scrambling up the hillside. The forest road brought us back to our car. That part of the canyon took us about 2 hours (with 4 beginners of which 2 were kids). To continue until the end would have been 3 hours more.
