Summary: (machine translated) Varied rappel canyon, partly narrowly cut.
Hydrology:
Access: (machine translated) Coming from Florence on the A1, at Orvieto (about 140 km from Florence) turn onto the SS79 - a short distance in the direction of Orvieto, then eastward under the A14, then straight on in the direction of Prodo (18 km from the highway exit, winding). In Prodo park car in front of the fort.
Approach: (machine translated) Between the fort and the adjoining row of houses, a narrow culvert (in a northwesterly direction) leads to an overgrown path that descends southwestward along a wire fence. After reaching a sparse grove, keep left down to the creek, which you reach almost immediately at the canyon entry.
Tour: (machine translated) One of the most popular canyons in central Italy, but it can be without water flow as early as mid-May.
Return: (machine translated) After the canyon widens below the last 7m drop and you pass about 100m of vegetation, you reach the last long pool. From here you can see Prodo again and at its exit a small side ditch comes down from the left. Absolutely pay attention, because this place is almost not recognizable - Now you climb up this side ditch a few meters, then a track pulls out of the ditch on the right. Later you follow this track keeping a little to the left in the direction of the power line. Under this, a clearer path leads uphill towards Prodo, crosses some side streams and leads in switchbacks directly to the village. Man can also descend about 1 km further along the stream towards Lago di Corbara.
