Résumé: (traduction alternative) Above great, in the lower third then somewhat less spectacular. Clean water; very long tour (start early); countless pools that can be jumped or slid very often; caution even with little water because the pools are very deep and cut out and the exit can be fatal; some places are bypassable; beautiful granite rock, some emergency exits. Helicanyoning possible. Water drainage above
Hydrologie: Das mittlere Drittel von Boggera superior ist im Sommer meist trocken oder hat eine sehr schlechte Wasserqualität (braun und mit vielen Fliegen). Prüfen Sie die jüngsten Niederschläge. Die folgenden Angaben sind ein Anhaltspunkt: <20mm: Nicht genug 50 mm: Nächster Tag 100mm: Sobald der Pegel am letzten Inferior-Wasserfall sinkt, dann gut für 2-3 Tage. So finden Sie die Niederschlagsaufzeichnungen: App „MeteoSchweiz“, runterscrollen bis „Messungen“, Liste (Icon oben rechts), Biasca, Regen (Icon unten), rechts scrollen bis 72h.
Accès: (traduction alternative) Approach Normal: On the road n.2 coming from the south, shortly after Honda dealer, turn right through an underpass of the railroad line, immediately after that turn right again on gravel road, still about 100m to the parking lot. At the level of the canyon exit there is also the railroad station "Stazione Osonga-Cresciano". Heli approach: From Biasca ri. Osogna --> 500m north before the road leading to Lodrino turn left and drive under the drawbridge --> continue to the right for about 200m until you reach the riding arena --> park the 1st car here --> take the 2nd car and drive to the Heli-TV station. The helicopter can carry 4 people --> the cost of the flight to the entry for the Boggera Superiore is 182CHF (about €135,-) --> very worthwhile!

Approche: (traduction alternative)

Ascent from the lower parking lot (2h) or via the toll road (5 CHF) to Censo and from there via a hiking trail (45 min). For description see literature/Swisstopo.

Heli:

After landing with the helicopter, go left along a hiking trail past a suspension bridge to a water catchment here most of the water is diverted. Do not enter too early: the uppermost, normally water-bearing part is not drilled.

Tour: (traduction alternative)

The entry is chosen over the steep forest terrain --> arrived in the canyon it starts immediately with the first deep pools --> depending on the water level most of the pools jumpable --> continuously it continues over the most beautiful granite rock --> the stands are well attached, but mostly only single hooks --> watch out for the sharp edges and narrow crevasses (several rope remnants in various places already show unfortunate rope withdrawal maneuvers) --> from the middle there are then several rappels that also increase in height --> but there are also always pools and downclimb passages that require concentration and condition --> in the lower part you can enjoy beautiful views from the rappels that offer here up to 35m --> after the last rappel of approx. 18m (jump?!) you mostly meet civilization again --> here is the exit (480Hm) or entry of the Boggera Inferiore --> either you continue to follow the course of the gorge (see Boggera inferiore) or you go left along the hiking trail in about 15min back to the parking lot.

Retour: (traduction alternative)

Leave the canyon at 480m on the left and return to the parking lot via the hiking trail in about 15 minutes, or do the lower part of the canyon (75 minutes).

Little water, but from the dam onwards. Everything jumped or slid that is jumpable according to the Nizzola guide. (traduction alternative)

Thanks to Heli TV for dropping us off at the top of the canyon. We immediately entered the stream. This part was really fun. But after a few obstacles, all the water disappears at the intake. After that, the canyon is dry. Some pools smell bad, and there is one pool where climbing out is quite difficult. Other than that, the gorge is very beautiful. Upon reaching the lower section, there's some water again. This section is also nicely sunny in the afternoon. We took 8.5 hours to complete the route (Upper and lower section), with a team of 4 at a relaxed pace. We had two experienced people and two beginners.

Very beautiful canyon After the thunderstorm the day before yesterday, there was some water flowing at the top and hardly any at the bottom. But many slides and jumps were still doable. One pool in the upper quarter is empty! (See photo) (traduction alternative)

Automatisch importiert von Descente-Canyon.com für Canyon Cresciano (supérieur) Attention devient sec après un quart. Une vasque où il manque 3 mètres d'eau est piègeuse. Il faut grimper pour en sortir. A ne pas faire avant des pluies conséquentes. (Quelle: <https://www.descente-canyon.com/canyoning/canyon-debit/2663/observations.html>)

Attention. Ne pas faire la partie supérieure en ce moment. Après un quart, c'est complètement sec avec notamment une vasque piège où il faut grimper pour en sortir. Nous sommes sortis comme on a pu!

Automatisch importiert von Descente-Canyon.com für Canyon Cresciano (supérieur) Longue et belle course continue, nous avons eu la chance de le parcourir en eau. Le canyon est beaucoup moins ludique en supérieur que la partie inférieure, les rappels sont vraiment glissants et le canyon manque un poil d'encasement pour être
