Résumé: (traduction alternative)

Hiking and swim canyon, frequented by tourists

Hydrologie:

Accès: (traduction alternative)

We come from the direction of Muscat and drive on Route 17 along the sea to Sur (Muscat - Sur about 200 km). Passing Sur we take Route 23 inland. After about 50 km we cross the Wadi Bani Khalid for the first time. A little later the "23" describes a bend to the northwest, we ignore the route "35" which turns off to the left 2 km after the Wadi B. K.. From this turnoff we drive 43 km on the "23" direction NNW to the next turnoff of a tarred road to Wadi Bani Khalid. Up to here one can also drive from Muscat via the "15" and "23" through the interior (216 km). We now turn right onto the road to the baths/pools of Khalid. After driving 22.2 km through the mountains, we reach Wadi Bani Khalid again. Here we turn north to the pools and the upper section of the wadi towards Moqel/Muqal. We now drive 7.2 km upstream, last directly at the edge of the wadi. Where the road leaves the wadi to the right, we park our car.

Approche: (traduction alternative)

From the car upstream to the beginning of the narrowing.

Tour: (traduction alternative)

We walk and wade upstream. After about 25 minutes from the gorge entrance, we come to the cave, to whose entrance concrete steps lead up to the right. The cave itself is low and narrow. If you want to go further in, you have to crawl. Inside the cave flows a stream. Following the visit to the cave, you can go further upstream, as long as desire and condition. The same way back again, keeping then at and in the wet water.

Retour: (traduction alternative)

From the canyon exit back downstream to the car.
