Melting snow with high but easily manageable water levels. All anchors available. Be careful when jumping, not all pools are clean and the white water hides obstacles. (traduzione alternativa)

Currently superiore water level, as the snow above is melting. Absolutely recommendable and the stands are very good. Almost always 2 anchors. We carried the tree trunks down on the last rappel, as they hang very dangerously on the edge. Has a bit of a Lodrino feeling in between. Top canyon when it has water. All the pools are full to the brim and no problem getting out. (traduzione alternativa)
